PONTIAC, Ill., June 23 (AP)—Waves of tear gas tonight quickly quelled a riot of 450 prisoners in the Pontiac State Penitentiary, 80 miles southwest of Chicago.

One prisoner was killed during the disturbance, according to Warden David Bergan. He said the prisoner, as yet unidentified, apparently had been struck with an iron bar by another convict.

Bergan said the riot started at 6:15 p.m. in the west cell house—confining 600 prisoners—as the men were being returned to their cells from the mess hall.

Bergan said he believed that tonight's riot was touched off by a disturbance last night involving three prisoners who were being taken to solitary confinement for defacing prison property.

Raging Waters
Batter Levees
At Des Moines

DES MOINES, June 23 (AP)—Gauged by hammering flood waters, Des Moines' main levees still were holding in a touch-and-go battle against the mounting pressure of the Des Moines River tonight.

"I think we've got a chance to lick it," said City Manager Leonard Howell as levee workers braced for a major overnight test.

The swollen stream made parts of this capital city a ghost town as 7,500 persons obeyed a precautionary evacuation order.

30-Foot Crest Expected
Already well past the high mark set in 1947's disastrous flood, the river plunged toward a 29 to 30-foot crest expected by morning. It was two feet past the 1947 crest of 26.5 feet even now.

Several thousand workers continued a round-the-clock levee fight to keep the water out of low-lying residential districts and the east side business area. The main west side business area and the chief residential districts were not threatened.

Flood waters already had covered a large area in the southeast bottoms. They also had spread out over the lowlands where the river enters the city at Des Moines' north end.

Secondary Dike Breaks

Inside Des Moines, recreational areas and sparsely settled stretches of bottomland were under water. A dike break, described by an Army engineer as secondary, sent several feet of water into parts of a north central section containing about 500 residences. About 100 of the homes, near Birdland Park, received some water.

No loss of life had been reported in the Des Moines area by early tonight. Just two deaths have been reported in the week-long floods that have touched nearly all the north half of Iowa.

Virginia Hill Indicted
On Tax Evasion Count

LOS ANGELES, June 23 (AP)—Virginia Hill, once the girl friend of Bugsy Siegel and other underworld figures, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of evading $80,180.02 in federal income tax payments for the years 1944 through 1947.

It was in Miss Hill's luxurious rented Beverly Hills home that Siegel was pumped full of bullets from a high-powered rifle June 29, 1947. Virginia was in Europe at the time. The slaying never was solved.

Apparently fearing she too had been chosen for assassination, she attempted suicide with sleeping pills in her Paris apartment.

In 1952 the Internal Revenue Bureau exhibited interest in her lavish spending by claiming she owed $161,000 in back income taxes. Her $35,000 home in Spokane, Wash., and other possessions were auctioned off to satisfy part of that claim.

Scelba Wins Vote Test

ROME, June 23 (AP)—Premier Mario Scelba's coalition government tonight won a vote of confidence in the Italian Senate for its pro-Western foreign policy.

This policy includes support of the European Defense Community and a provisional solution of the Trieste dispute with Yugoslavia.

The vote was 121 to 85, with 12 senators abstaining.

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee late today approved President Eisenhower's 3½-billion-dollar foreign aid program without major change.

It acted several hours after the President sent a message to Congress declaring that any cuts would be "unjustified and unsafe" in the light of the threat from world communism.

Rep. Voris (R-Ohio) described the committee's vote "a mark of confidence" in the President and said it was the first time in his 16 years in Congress that he had ever known of a foreign aid bill getting through committee without heavy cuts.

Cheap Bulwark

The bill still has a long way to go, however, and Eisenhower addressed his appeal to the whole Congress. His message described the program as a comparatively cheap bulwark against "the continued ruthless drive of Communists imperialists for world domination."

Eisenhower asked for an authorization of $3,477,700,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1, plus some additional funds for the American share of European military work during the two following years. He spoke of it in round numbers as a 3½-billion-dollar program.

The committee approved a total of $3,470,608,000 for the year beginning July 1. In addition it approved $198,300,000 dollars for the United States' share of building European air fields and military roads during the proceeding years.

House May Act This Week

It sliced 7½ million dollars from funds earmarked for defense support to back up military buildups in Europe, putting this subtotal at $2,500,000. But it added $500,000 for a refugee program, bringing the net cut to 7 million dollars.

The House may act this week on the bill, which merely authorizes a foreign aid ceiling, with the actual appropriation to be voted later. The Senate has not taken it up.

The President's message to the Capitol noted there already has been a 40 per cent reduction in mutual security spending in two years, and added:

"Further reductions in the authorized program at this time, in view of the continuing threat to our national safety, would be unjustified and unsafe."

Heroic French
Nurse To Visit U. S.

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Genevieve de Galard-Terraube, the heroic nurse of Dien Bien Phu, is expected to arrive in this country in mid-July for a tour of about three weeks.

She is coming at the invitation of Congress, extended through a resolution sponsored by Rep. Frances P. Bolton (R-Ohio).

Mrs. Bolton, announcing tentative plans today, said in a statement the visit "will be a dramatic illustration of the devotion to duty of women in the nursing profession in all countries."

The trip also will stress the importance of the shortage of nurses in the United States, she said.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., June 23 (AP)—The Tennessee Valley Authority today granted salary increases averaging 3 per cent to 7,200 "white collar" employees.

Legionnaires Scoff At Idea
Convention Will Be Rowdy

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The American Legion launched a new campaign today. It's out to change the popular impression that Legion conventions are rowdy, hell-raising affairs.

Not so at all, said Herbert J. Jacobi, president of the 1954 Legion Convention Corp.

For the first time in its history, the legion will hold its annual convention in Washington this August. "I am sure everyone," Jacobi said, "will be agreeably surprised at the order and decorum with which it is conducted."

The matter came up partly because of President Eisenhower, a veteran who should have a rough idea of what veteran shindigs are like. Eisenhower asked Congress for an appropriation of $103,000 "to maintain public order" during the convention.

Locarno-Type
West-Red Pact
Urged By Eden

British Secretary
Slaps At American
Policy In Indochina

LONDON, June 23 (AP)—Anthony Eden, in a speech bristling with criticism of the United States, called today on both the free and Communist worlds to sign an Asian pact designed to stop the Indochina war and guarantee peace in Southeast Asia.

Foreign Secretary Eden told the House of Commons he hoped for a Locarno-type nonaggression agreement as part of a general settlement at Geneva. He said the free world could still have a proposed Southeast Asian setup like the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and the Communists could retain the Soviet-Chinese mutual defense treaty.

"I hope we shall be able to agree to an international guarantee of any settlement formulated at Geneva," Eden said.

Slaps At U. S. Cheer

Eden's frequent, thinly disguised slaps at American policy in Indochina drew cheers from both conservatives and Laborites listening to his emotion-charged voice in the House of Commons.

Speaking with unusual bluntness on the eve of his departure with Prime Minister Churchill for weekend talks with President Eisenhower in Washington, Eden declared:

"I hope it will be possible to agree on some system of South Asian defense and to guard against aggression."

"In other words, we could have a reciprocal arrangement in which both sides took part, such as Locarno. We could also have a defensive alliance, such as NATO in Europe, and such as the existing Soviet-Chinese treaty provided for the Far East."

Hasty Action Opposed

"These two systems would, I admit, be quite different, but need be in no way inconsistent."

"My belief is that by refraining from any precipitate move toward the formation of a NATO system in Southeast Asia we have helped to create the necessary conditions under which both systems can possibly be brought into being."

Secretary of State Dulles has favored quick moves to organize a Southeast Asian military alliance. Britain has held back, believing that early action would torpedo any chance for a settlement in Indochina at the Geneva peace conference.

U. S. Officials
Still Hopeful
On Indochina

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—U. S. diplomatic officials were pictured today as still hopeful that most of Indochina will escape Communist control.

Thirty Democratic and Republican congressional leaders were briefed at the White House by Secretary of State Dulles and Undersecretary Walter Bedell Smith with President Eisenhower also participating. After the session, a veteran senator, asking that his name not be used, told newsmen:

"They still expect Laos, Cambodia and part of Viet Nam to resist communism."

"Review," Johnson Says
He did not indicate the basis for that view or say what, if any, part of the United States might be expected to take in making it come true.

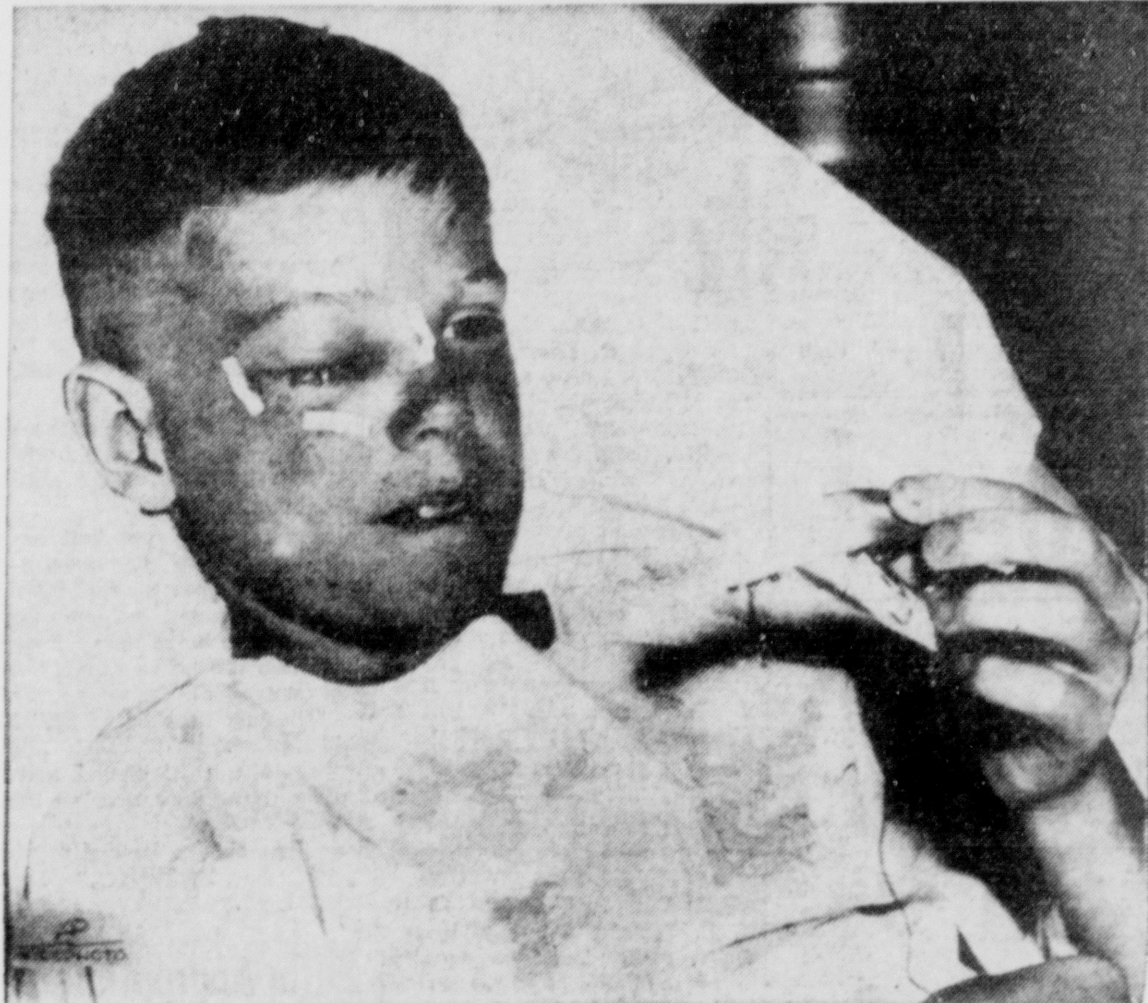

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, said the meeting was "just a review" and no new policy decisions were set out. Republican Leader Knowland of California declined comment on that point.

One House leader described Smith's view as "pessimistic."

Some others tended to agree with House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) that the leaders got a picture of "a serious situation, but there is a ray of hope."

Churchill Due Friday
Martin said he was encouraged by prospects of winning support for Dulles' proposed united action to draw a line against communism. He said some nations are becoming aroused over the situation—among them Great Britain, Australia, New Zealand and the federated Malay states.

The briefing of congressional leaders came in advance of the weekend visit here of British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, who are to arrive Friday for conferences aimed at bringing Britain and the United States more nearly toward a common view.

Hook Caught Boy, Not Fish

Roman Trzcinski, 12, Milwaukee, looks over a fishing plug after failure of a powerful magnet to remove a section of fishhook from his right eye. The lad was struck by a fishing plug cast by a 13-year-old playmate while on a birthday fishing trip. Doctors say the hook does not threaten the boy's sight and no new attempt will be made to remove it for several months. (Story at bottom of page)

Federal Pension
For Alger Hiss
Opposed By Ike

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The White House said today President Eisenhower is against paying any government pension to Alger Hiss, former State Department official who was convicted of falsely denying he gave secret information to a Communist spy ring.

James C. Hagerty, presidential press secretary, stated Eisenhower's position on the matter after commenting on a series of news stories.

Those stories yesterday said generally that the Eisenhower administration had taken the position through the Civil Service Commission and the Budget Bureau, the latter a White House agency, that the government is obligated to go through with retirement pay to federal employees even when they are imprisoned for criminal acts.

Hiss will be eligible under present law for a pension of $700 a year at age 62.

As a result of Civil Service Commission and Budget Bureau views set forth in communications to the House Civil Service Committee, Rep. Clardy (R-Mich) declared the administration attitude "leaves me agast, enraged, boiling mad."

Rep. St. George (R-N.Y.) called it "inconceivable to me that persons who have violated their trust—these convicted felons should receive the same benefits as thousands of government employees who serve their country well."

Clardy and Mrs. St. George are authors of bills designed to prevent Hiss from getting a retirement pension. Mrs. St. George has one bill aimed specifically at Hiss and another which would apply generally to federal employees.

Hagerty said he was unable to understand how anyone could read the views set forth at the Budget Bureau and the Civil Service Commission and come to the conclusion that the administration is opposed to legislation that would deny Hiss a pension.

Four Die When Bus
Upsets In Mexico

ENSENADA, Mexico, June 23 (AP)—Police said four were killed and more than 30 injured when a busload of students for the Catholic priesthood upset in the mountains north of here today.

Officers said some of the injured may die.

The highway patrol here reported that all of the bodies and the injured had been brought to Ensenada.

The bus was from the Catholic seminary at Tijuana, Mexico, en route to Ensenada with 50 boys aboard. They were on their way to an excursion to Todos los Santos Island, off Ensenada.

The boys ranged in age from 12 to 18 years.

Compromise Reached
On Defense Spending

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—A Senate-House conference reached a compromise today on the defense money bill, largest of all appropriations.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich) said the compromise total will be "slightly less than 29 billion dollars."

Guatemala Accused

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 23 (AP)—The Honduran Foreign Ministry announced tonight this country has protested to the United Nations that Guatemalan plane bombed an airstrip at San Pedro de Copan, Honduras, about 18 miles from Guatemala.

Uncle Sam Might
Pay For One-Way
Ticket To Russia

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The House Foreign Affairs Committee voted today to authorize paying a one-way passage to Russia for any resident of the United States desiring to stay there.

Chairman Chipfield (R-Ill.), who sponsored the amendment to the foreign aid bill, said the offer could be taken up by "anyone who thinks Russia is better than this country."

The chairman added that, "I hope the rulers of the Soviet Union will counter this provision with a similar offer to enable residents of their country to come to the United States."

Tank Blast Kills
Three Workers

ROCKWOOD, Tenn., June 23 (AP)—A city-owned tank of asphalt exploded today, killing three workmen.

Ralph Richie, 45, of Bakewell, Tenn., and Warren Johnson, 54, of Signal Mountain, Tenn., were killed when they were hurled 100 feet from the top of the tank of road oil.

Jack Hickman, 34, of Chattanooga, died later in a hospital. A witness, Freeman Denny, said Hickman was standing on a steel ladder, and was thrown about 35 feet by the blast.

All were employees of Chattanooga Boiler and Tank Co., installing two one-million-gallon steel tank water reservoirs for the city. The asphalt tank was part of city street maintenance equipment at the scene, City Recorder Alvin Nelson said.

Nelson said he was unable to explain the explosion, but, "Apparently there was some form of gas in the tank and the heat from a welding torch ignited it."

Magnet Fails To Remove
Fishhook From Boy's Eye

MILWAUKEE, June 23 (AP)—The failure of a powerful magnet to remove a section of fishhook from the right eye of 12-year old Roman D. Trzcinski, the attending physician said tonight, does not threaten the lad's sight.

Dr. C. R. Kwapy who probed the boy's eye with powerful suction force of the giant magnet for 2½ hours today, said no new effort to remove the barb will be made for several months. Weekly checks will be made to determine what is happening to the hook.

The hook was lodged, Dr. Kwapy said, in the soft and delicate tissue that forms the socket wall next to the eyeball. He expressed the feeling there is a chance the hook could work free. He added the boy is in no pain and his spirits are good.

In a broadcast heard by neighboring countries tonight, Guatemala denied that any planes from there had attacked Honduran territory. The Guatemalan radio said any such attacks must be attributed to "planes flying out of Honduras and Nicaragua."

The Foreign Ministry said a protest also was made to the 21-nation Organization of American States.

Three Bombs Dropped

OAS already has been asked to consider Guatemalan charges that Honduras and Nicaragua provided invasion bases for the anti-Communist forces now trying to overthrow the government in Guatemala.

Ministry sources said the plane came from the direction of Guatemala yesterday and dropped three bombs, damaging the dirt airstrip near the little village of San Pedro in Copan Department. San Pedro has a population of about 650.

The sources said no one was hurt and repair work was begun immediately.

Retaliation Question Raised
This followed a report last night by the Honduran Foreign Ministry that unidentified planes yesterday bombed the nearby town of Santa Rosa de Copan.

The bombings raised the question here whether the Red-backed Guatemalan government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman had decided to retaliate for the rebel use of Honduras as a base for its invasion.

The clandestine "liberation radio" of the anti-Communist invaders claimed, however, that the attack on Honduras last night was unintentionally carried out by two European "mercenary" pilots hired by the Guatemalan government.

Adenauer Renews Call

BONN, Germany, June 23 (AP)—Chancellor Konrad Adenauer called anew today for the Western powers to end the nine-year occupation of West Germany. He said it is "unbearable" for the Germans to wait any longer for sovereignty.

good. Roman will be released from St. Luke's Hospital in several days.

The hook struck the red-haired lad Sunday as he celebrated his birthday with a fishing trip to Door County, Wis. He made the trip with Mr. and Mrs. James Mason and their sons, Dale, 13, and Clarence, 12. A fishing plug cast by Dale struck Roman. The protruding end of the hook and the plug were removed and then Roman was transferred to St. Luke's where the magnet, one of the few such instruments in the country, was available.

The magnet, with sufficient force to remove small bits of metal and steel, can lift a small metal marble about eight inches. Weighing about 550 pounds, the instrument, can focus the force of the magnet on a given area.

Rebels Report
3-Prong Drive
On Capital City

Government Claims
Anti-Reds Fleeing
Toward Honduras

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, June 23 (AP)—The anti-Communist invaders of Guatemala claimed tonight they are moving on Guatemala City from three directions. The government radio countered the rebel broadcast statement with the claim that the rebels had been repulsed and were fleeing toward Honduras.

The rival claims—some obviously made for propaganda effect—were typical of the confused picture on half a dozen sectors of the fighting. There had still been no major battle.

The rebels launched their attack last Friday in a bid to oust the Communist-supported government of President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman.

A rebel broadcast heard in Belize, British Honduras, claimed the three-pronged attack was converging on the Guatemalan capital from north, south, and east.

Rebel Leaders Identified

Another rebel broadcast, heard in San Salvador, identified the commanders of the three rebel units as Col. Ernesto Neider Haitmann, a German, leading the advance from the north; Col. Jorge Barrios from the east; and Col. Guillermo Flores Avendano from the south.

In addition to these forces, the broadcast added, the rebels have a main force of one division commanded by Col. Miguel Mendoza and an air force under his brother, Col. Rodolfo Mendoza. Both recently fled from Guatemala.

The rebels claimed their planes had damaged several ammunition dumps and other strategic points in the town of El Progreso, 35 miles northeast of the capital, on the important Guatemala City-Puerto Barrios railroad. They also claimed saboteurs were moving ahead of the "army of liberation" and causing serious damage with dynamite blasts.

"Enemy" Repulsed

From the other side, government broadcasts heard in San Salvador said the "enemy" had been repulsed on all fronts and was fleeing toward Honduras in the Gualan, Morales and Puerto Barrios areas, all in eastern Guatemala.

The government broadcasts said the army had begun mopping up scattered groups that had surrendered without resistance. They claimed that activities were normal again in places where the rebels had been thrown out. The government discounted rebel air attacks as unimportant.

Rebel broadcasts did not always jibe even with each other. The one heard at Belize said the advancing invaders had captured Col. Carlos Enrique Diaz, the army's chief of staff, and several other military leaders. The broadcast heard in San Salvador said rebel intelligence agents had reports Diaz and 17 officers had been jailed by Arbenz.

In Guatemala City, Associated Press Correspondent Jack Rutledge described the situation as calm. He said reports that the rebels were on the outskirts of the capital were not true. He said the army still claimed the situation was under complete control.

Army Will Give Lonely GI Break

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The Army, giving the lonely GI a break, is planning to send him overseas as part of a unit with which he has trained instead of as an individual drawn from a replacement pool.

The plan, still in course of development, will begin operating next year. It will be substituted for an overseas replacement program which has been used since the start of the Korean War.

Probably starting at the platoon level, about 80 men, it is to be expanded into battalions, 880 men, and regiments, 3,600 men, move overseas as units.

Farm Bill Rejecting Flexible Price Supports Nearly Ready

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—A catch-all farm bill rejecting the administration's call for flexible price supports was all but completed by the House Agriculture Committee today.

Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) said at the conclusion of the day's bill-drafting session that a completed measure would be introduced when the House convenes tomorrow, and probably would be voted out by committee later in the day or Friday.

Covering almost every phase of the government farm program, the committee version is based on continued high support prices for another year. It calls for upping dairy price supports above levels set by Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

It does, however, include administration proposals for a 2½ billion dollar set-aside of surpluses, and subsidy encouragement of the wool growing industry.

President Eisenhower's request for use of surpluses abroad was passed separately by the House in a bill authorizing the sale, trade or barter of a billion dollars worth of U.S. farm commodities abroad, and the gift of another 300 million dollars worth for foreign famine or disaster relief.

About all that remains for the committee to do tomorrow is provide for treatment of farm land diverted from surplus crops to other uses under government controls.

The committee today disposed of what shaped up as its final thorny problem—support prices for peanuts, now in heavy surplus.

In the face of a move by some Congress members to knock peanuts out of the bill as a basic crop entitled to price supports at 90 percent of parity, the committee voted to continue supports at the present level but to drastically reduce acreage allotments.

Douglas Backs Ike's Original Trade Program

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill.) asserted today President Eisenhower agreed to accept a compromise on his foreign trade program after Republicans in Congress "frightened and intimidated the poor man."

Douglas called for a three-year extension of the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, with new powers to cut tariffs, as originally recommended by Eisenhower.

The Illinois senator said, "It is extraordinary that the Democrats are fighting for the President's program against the almost unanimous opposition of the Senate Republicans."

Twenty-two Democrats and Sen. Morse (Independent-Ore.) propose to substitute Eisenhower's original three-year program for a bill passed by the House June 11 and providing for a simple one-year extension of the present act.

Douglas' barbed remarks drew an immediate challenge from Sen. Millikin (R-Colo.), floor manager for the one-year bill.

Millikin flared out that he was fighting for the Eisenhower program, contending the President said "he wanted the one-year extension with more time for study."

"When did he say that?" Douglas demanded.

"The last time he spoke," Millikin replied.

"After you frightened and intimidated the poor man so that he would rather accept defeat from the Republicans instead of victory with the Democrats," Douglas shot back.

Farm Appropriation Bill Sent To President

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Congress sent to President Eisenhower today a bill appropriating $723,683,150 in new cash to the Agriculture Department for the fiscal year starting July 1.

In addition to the cash, the bill contains loan authority of more than 300 million dollars, of which 135 million is for the Rural Electrification Administration.

GOP Chairman Sure Ike Will Run In 1956

ALBUQUERQUE, June 23 (AP)—The Republican National Committee chairman said today President Eisenhower "absolutely" would be a candidate for reelection in 1956.

Leonard W. Hall, at a press conference, said of the Eisenhower

Administration's Record Praised In GOP Pamphlet

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—The Republican National Committee said today the Eisenhower administration has "taken bold steps to halt global communism" and has "cleaned house and instituted its own forthright program."

It also asserted the administration has "achieved remarkable success in rooting out subversives and eliminating potential security risks."

The arguments were made in a 3,000-word "basic campaign document" which outlined what the committee called the 1954 campaign "line" of the Truman-Stevenson wing of the Democratic party and the Republican "factual" replies to nine main "charges."

The four-page pamphlet is being distributed to party workers as a campaign document which the committee said "answers the distortions and untruths already being uttered in the 1954 campaign."

Plan Would Give Sick Tax Break

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—Wages up to $100 a week paid to a worker while absent from work because of sickness would be tax-free under a plan approved by the Senate Finance Committee. The exemption would not apply to the first seven days of illness.

The plan is part of the big tax revision program approved by the Finance Committee last week and scheduled for Senate action next week.

Treasury staff experts today gave this explanation:

Under present law, sick benefits—including payment of wages while on sick leave—are not taxed if the employer provides the benefits from company funds, as many big companies do.

Under the revision bill as passed by the House and as approved by the Senate Finance Committee, no distinction is made between insured and noninsured sick benefit plans.

Under the House bill, for certain "qualified plans," taxes would be exempt on payments for hospital and doctor bills and other medical expenses, and on wages paid to sick employees up to $100 a week.

To qualify for the exemption, however, the sick benefit plan would have to provide a waiting period of several days of sickness before any benefits or wages were paid.

Candidacy: "absolutely. I think the demand will be such that he will be."

Judge Sustains Railroads' Claim

PHILADELPHIA, June 23 (AP)—U. S. District Judge Thomas J. Clary, ruling today on one point in a complex $250,000,000 suit against Eastern railroads, sustained a railroad claim that efforts to influence legislation are not in themselves a basis for charges of violating the anti-trust laws.

The roads, objecting to questioning about legislative activities, had contended in arguments here last Jan. 27 that the problem involves the defendants' rights of petition, assembly and free speech.

"It is clear that the right of petition guarantees opportunity for group appeal to the government in order that peaceful changes in our laws and institutions may be brought," Atty. Philip Price, counsel for the Pennsylvania Railroad which is one of the defendants, argued then.

Judge Clary, in the ruling handed down today, sustained the railroad's objection to questions about legislative activities.

Counsel for the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. and many individual truckers who filed the suit, had contended it would be no burden on the railroads to answer questions about legislative activities.

Judge Persuades Parents Of 16 Children To Reconcile

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 23 (AP)—Superior Court Judge Frederick V. McMenimen today chided and then persuaded Antonio Sardo, 51, and his wife, Madeline, 37, to reconcile and the couple, parents of 16 children, left the court arm in arm.

"It's ridiculous," the judge said when Sardo contended his wife was unfaithful.

Sardo's allegation came after his wife filed a petition for separate support.

"You are both in a state of hysteria," said the judge. "You'll ruin the lives of all your lovely children if you don't get back together."

"He's so crazy about you he's neurotic," the judge told Mrs. Sardo while pointing at her husband. "I don't want to bar him from the house."

Then pointing to Mrs. Sardo and addressing her husband, Judge McMenimen said, "You accuse your wife of infidelity just because she looked at another man. It's ridiculous. Don't argue with her. Do what she wants you to do and above all, don't lay your hands on her."

"Now," he concluded, "will you go back together and try to control yourselves?"

They agreed and left the court together, followed by 15 of their 16 children.

The children range in age from 3 months to 21 years. The 5-months old child was in the arms of an elder sister. Where the 16th child was today was not known at the courthouse.

Israel Is Condemned By Armistice Group

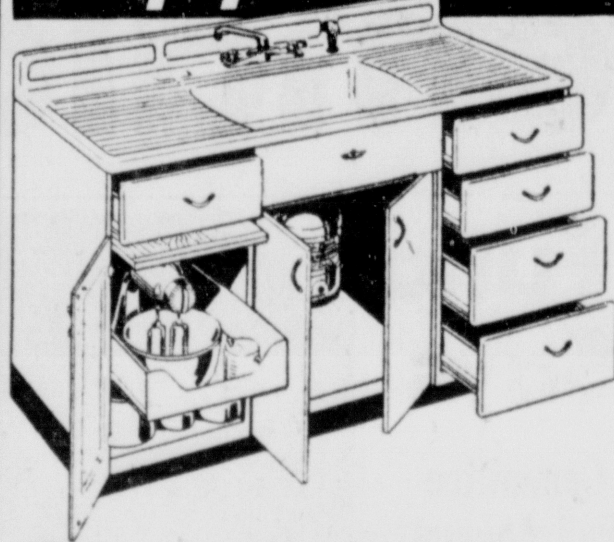

JERUSALEM, Israeli Section, June 23 (AP)—The

Israel has boycotted the Commission since it failed to support her demand for condemnation of Jordan for the massacre of 11 Jews in a bus in the Negev Desert March 17.

This is the leadership we have had during the past three and one-half years:

1. Solution of all county problems on a sound business basis — with harmony.
2. Major improvements to Sylvan Retreat resulting in better services for the mentally ill.
3. Major improvements to Infirmary so that our bed-fast indigent citizens can be cared for in a proper manner.
4. Adoption of a four-year maintenance program for all county owned buildings — which saves thousands of dollars by not allowing such property to deteriorate.
5. Surface treated 120 miles of county road — renovated 49 county bridges — constructed three new bridges — constructed an underpass — installed 6,000 feet of drainage pipe.

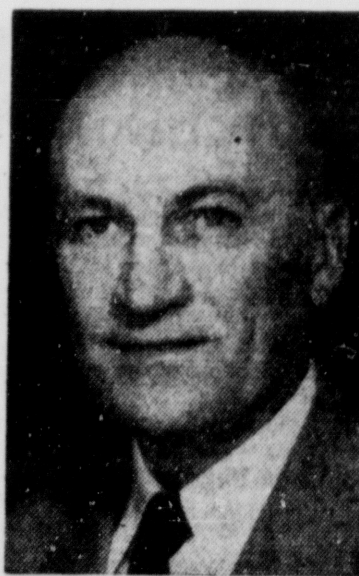

THERE IS A REAL JOB AHEAD!

Cleanup Collapses As Sheriff And Deputy Are Acquitted Of Charges

HAGERSTOWN, June 23 (AP)—The Deputy Kenneth Stangle were tried today on charges they conspired to cheat the county commissioners in the purchase of gasoline for Stangle to travel to and from his home at Rohrsville. The jury took 15 minutes to acquit the pair. Today's action brought to four the number of acquittals in five trials. Only one of four deputies Sheriff Edward L. Rowland and charged was convicted. Rowland has been acquitted of two of three charges brought against him. The state's attorney did not elaborate on his remark he would not try any more of the cases. Still pending were a malfeasance charge against Rowland and one of false pretense against Mrs. Mary Stahl, an office deputy. Rowland was acquitted yesterday of a false pretense charge. Earlier, Deputy Michael Farrie had been acquitted of charging gasoline to the county while on a honeymoon trip. The only conviction has been that of Deputy Fred Crowl, accused of billing the county $32 for an automobile tire as a means of collecting the titling tax on a car. In the case of Rowland and Stangle, the State contended official slips of purchase showed Stangle got 918 gallons of gasoline last year which was not used in performance of duties. Stangle, with the department 21 years and night warden at the jail, had been given gasoline to go to and from home and for other purposes, former Sheriff Joseph D. Baker said. He's running for sheriff again this year.

It will run two miles west mile of Cemetery Road will be built. The Roads Commission also asked bids by July 13 on the widening, resurfacing and some relocating of Maryland 648, the Old Annapolis Road, on a three mile stretch where it parallels Ritchie Highway east of Glen Burnie in Anne Arundel County. Besides the two miles of divided dual highway, there will be more than a third of a mile of ramps for interchanges at U.S. 15 and Cemetery Road and about half a

Baltimorean Admits Injecting Race Issue Into Md. Primary

BALTIMORE, June 23 (AP) — A little old man in South Baltimore admitted today he was responsible for injecting a racial issue into the Maryland primary election campaign but insisted he did so on his own hook.

"Nobody asked me to do anything," said William C. Greenwell, a spokesman for Dr. H. C. Byrd, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, said the device had the earmarks of a George P. Mahoney campaign maneuver.

"We know absolutely nothing about it. I never heard of Greenwell," replied Hugo R. Hoffmann, Mahoney's gubernatorial campaign manager.

Greenwell, a former member of the House of Delegates who says he is 90 but whose birth year is listed in the records as 1870, said he had authorized the printing of postcards which flooded parts of the Eastern Shore and Southern Maryland.

The cards, about 3 1/2 x 9 inches, carry a reproduction of a Baltimore Sun story of last April 7, quoting Byrd as saying in a speech:

"If I am elected administrator of this state, I will do more for all the Negroes of Maryland than any other governor has ever done."

That paragraph is heavily circled on the card, which bears no other information except the legend "By Authority of William C. Greenwell."

Greenwell, who served in the House from 1924 to 1929 and works for a wholesale tobacco firm, said he thought "Byrd personally is a fine man."

But he had the cards printed and distributed, said Greenwell, because he disagrees with Byrd on the racial question. He also disagrees with the recent Supreme Court ruling which banned segregation of the races in public education, said Greenwell.

About 6,000 of the cards were reported to have appeared in Dorchester County, one of the Eastern Shore counties listed in the doubtful column for the June 28 primary. Another 11,000 were said to have turned up in Wicomico County, where Byrd has drawn much Democratic party organization support.

Observers in Dorchester said the cards stirred up more interest in the campaign than all previous literature combined.

Montgomery, Alabama, was once known as the "cradle of the Confederacy."

Hot, Dry Weather In Store For State

[By The Associated Press]

Weather forecasters saw only more hot, dry weather in prospect for Maryland this week and little chance of a break in the worst siege of drought the state has experienced.

Records at the Weather Bureau in Baltimore showed an accumulated deficiency of about seven inches of rainfall during the year from June 1, 1953 through May of 1954. And that doesn't include all of the period, May 20-June 22, described by forecasters as the driest in the recorded history of the Weather Bureau.

Forecasters said the lack of adequate rainfall this year to date was more serious because it followed on the heels of a drought which plagued most of the state last summer and fall.

The sub-soil, a couple feet down, had no moisture reserve for the top soil to draw upon when it dried out again this spring.

In the Baltimore area, the rainfall deficiency for the May 20 to June 22 period totaled 3.54 inches, about equal to the normal rainfall for the entire month of June.

cases for the same period of 1953 and with a five-year average of 15 cases for the period.

Although the figure is slightly lower than last year and considerably lower than the average, the health department said it is still too early in the season to estimate the prevalence of polio in Maryland for the rest of the year.

The department repeated a statement made earlier this year that

Feed Prices Down Sharply

Southern States Again Leads Way in Reflecting Immediate Feed Market Declines

Southern States Poultry, Dairy and Livestock Feeds are down sharply in price under a month ago . . . from $3 to $9 per ton in most cases. This is the result of declines in the market prices of the ingredients which go into those feeds . . . protein, oil meals, etc . . . and of Southern States Cooperative's policy of reflecting those ingredient price drops immediately in the manufactured feeds it supplies to farmers.

What's more, present market prices seem likely to remain at or near current levels for the next few weeks . . . well below prices which prevailed in April and early May. Now's your chance to stock up on the feeds you need to keep your hens and dairy cows at top production during the summer months. Remember it pays to feed livestock and poultry well . . . even when good pasture is available. It means more profit for you.

Here's How our Prices Have Dropped:

	May 3 Price	Today's Price	Reduction Per Ton
Southern States 16% Pasture Dairy . . .	3.90 per bag	3.60 per bag	6.00
Southern States Egg Maker	4.90 per bag	4.60 per bag	6.00
Southern States Growing Mash	5.00 per bag	4.65 per bag	7.00
Southern States 20% Milk Maker	4.45 per bag	4.20 per bag	5.00
Southern States 35% Pork Maker	6.30 per bag	6.05 per bag	5.00
Southern States 15% Pork Maker	4.80 per bag	4.55 per bag	5.00
Super Course Scratch	4.30 per bag	4.15 per bag	3.00

TWO PASTURE FEEDS SPECIALLY PRICED

In addition to general price reductions on all Southern States Feeds, two feeds, Southern States 16% Pasture Dairy and Southern States Egg Maker, have been further reduced to help dairymen and poultrymen during this present squeeze on farm profits. Both of these feeds are designed especially for feeding with good pasture. Both are Southern States top quality feeds, but contain less of the ingredients which cows and poultry can get from pasture at this season. See prices above.

Colleen Burke To Become Bride Of Lt. Glen Burke

Miss Colleen Burke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley S. Burke, 12 Fifth Street, is to become the bride of Lt. Glen Burke, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Burke, 135 Mullen Street, tonight.

The wedding ceremony will be solemnized at 7:30 in St. John's Lutheran Church with Rev. Frederick Eckert officiating. Standards of white gladioli and carnations are being used with candelabra of lighted tapers in the decorations, against a background of palms. White satin bows mark the pews.

Mrs. Robert Durrett is to be her sister's matron of honor; Mrs. Shirley Parleton, Miss Betty Cox, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Wayne Lewis, sister of the bridegroom, bridesmaids; while Roberta Jean and Tony Ann Durrett will be the junior bridesmaids and Susan Parleton, flower girl. Lt. William G. Soden, Swarthmore, Pa., a classmate of Lt. Burke at the Naval Academy, will serve as his best man. William S. Burke, brother of the bride, Ensign Stephen J. Barzowski, Newark, Del., William Light and Morton Peskin Jr., will be ushers.

A program of nuptial music will be played by Robert Mann Jr., including "The Even Song," and "Liebestraum," the wedding march from the opera "Lohengrin," and Mendelssohn's recessional. He also will accompany Mrs. Richard Bitner, singing "Through the Years," "Because," "At Dawning," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, who will be given in marriage by her father, will wear a gown of tulle and Chantilly lace over slipper satin. It is fashioned with a fitted lace bodice made with long sleeves tapering to a point on the hand and a heart shaped neckline. The full tulle skirt has lace inserts and a small train. Her illusion veil is held by a halo head-dress of lace and pearls. Completing her costume she will carry a muff of white roses and stephanotis.

Her attendants' dresses are all of blue tulle with wide sashes, looped up with two large roses, and the ends extending to the hemline. Their headdresses are of tulle and flowers. The matron of honor has long pink gloves and will carry a bouquet of pink rosebuds. The bridesmaids have pink mitts and bouquets of pink rosebuds and carnations with a touch of blue blossoms. The junior bridesmaids and flower girls will wear floor-length, pink tulle frocks made with round neckline and short sleeves and pink sashes. They have pink tulle headdresses and miniature bouquets similar to the bridesmaids.

The bride's mother has chosen a cadet blue lace, floor-length gown for the wedding. With it she is wearing a large rhinestone pin, blue hat with small pink and blue flowers, and a pink tinted gardenia corsage. The bridegroom's mother has a powder blue gown with white accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

The bride is a graduate of Fort Hill High School, where she was a member of the National Honor Society, and of the National Thespians, was voted the outstanding girl in the senior class and tied for the best actress her senior year. She was a cheerleader, and an attendant in the May Court for four years. She received her bachelor of arts degree from West Virginia Wesleyan College, Buchanan, where she was a pre-law student and majored in political science, studying English, history and sociology. She was one of 16 graduates to receive a golden key to the college for outstanding activities in her four years there. She was president of Beta Sigma Chapter, Alpha Xi Delta, and National Panhellenic Council; a member of Alpha Psi Omega, national dramatic honorary, of Delta Psi Kappa, national athletic honorary; and Pi Kappa Delta, national debating honorary, the Women's Athletic Association, Haught Literary Society and Wesleyan Playshop. She was attendant in the Homecoming Court for four years and the May Court, three, being elected May Queen in her senior year. Miss Burke taught the eighth

Area Theft Case Solved By West Virginia Police

A 29-year-old Keyser resident has been released under $1,000 bond for appearance before the July term of Mineral County Court on a charge of grand larceny.

The bond was set Tuesday night by Justice of the Peace Madelyn Bazzle after Lester V. "Foxy" Ravenscroft Jr., of Porter Street, had reportedly signed a confession admitting the theft of between $60 and $70 from a Fort Ashby tavern.

Authorities said the case was solved by West Virginia State Trooper D. G. Peters, whose only clues were a lipstick and two Liberty Head nickels.

Trooper Peters was called into the case last Wednesday by Mrs. Frances Pyles, who reported the money was taken that day from a dresser drawer in a room on the floor above the tavern which she operates.

Mrs. Pyles said the money taken included a $10 bill, four $5 bills, between 20 and 30 $1 bills, four $2 bills, a silver dollar and $4 in small change. The Liberty Head coins, which she saves, were among the small change, Mrs. Pyles told Trooper Peters.

Ravenscroft and another man had come to her tavern on the day the theft occurred, Mrs. Pyles stated, and Ravenscroft had gone to the second floor during the time he spent there. Mrs. Pyles continued that she and the other man had gone for a car ride when she became suspicious after finding a lipstick, which she identified as her's. After returning from the ride, she investigated and found the money and lipstick missing.

Trooper Peters questioned Ravenscroft, who denied the theft, and then traced his actions after leaving Mrs. Pyles establishment. On learning that Ravenscroft had played a pinball machine in another tavern after leaving the Fort Ashby business place, Trooper Peters asked the owner to remove the back so he could view the coins in the device.

Hope To Raise Swim Pool Funds

KEYSER—Residents of New Creek Drive, among whom are business and professional men of Keyser and their wives, are putting forth new efforts to bring out some "loose" money for the swimming pool. The New Creek Drive residents will promote a "Give to the Swimming Pool Fund" with a festival Friday evening, starting at 6 p.m., on the lawn of the W. W. Kennedy home. There will be homemade sandwiches, soft drinks, coffee, cake and ice cream on sale for the "neighbors" from New Creek or Keyser area.

The group believes that the New Creek area will come forward with a worthwhile donation for the pool. The area fund has reached the amount of $3,810.45.

The Yeomen Club, of Keyser, will do a bit of foot work this week, in canvassing the several districts of the city for "cast-outs" or old articles that have been lying in the attic for sometime. These articles gathered for the purpose, will be presented at an auction sale in front of the Mineral County Court House, Saturday. Proceeds from the sale will go to the Swimming Pool fund.

The fund to assist in finishing the pool is growing, and in its growth the people of Keyser are beginning to feel that the pool will be more theirs because of their donations and gifts. They are working hard to get it completed.

The Yeoman Club has made a plea for articles to be used in the auction sale and is asking citizens, if they have been missed in the home canvass, to telephone 28001 or 26332 and give the information that they have articles for the auction sale. The articles will be picked up.

Pastures showed improvement, but still were only fair to good. Hay harvesting continued at a rapid pace. Corn was making good growth, and averaged about knee-high throughout the state, but was not considered serious for the present.

Both temperatures and rainfall were above normal in the state for the week ended June 18.

Apples and peaches were sizing well and the service said prospects pointed to an excellent crop. Fire blight of apples was scattered throughout the state, but was not considered serious for the present.

Local Resident Seeks To Obtain Release

A former resident of Bowling Green serving a five-year sentence in the Maryland Penitentiary for sodomy took steps through the Baltimore Supreme Bench Tuesday to obtain his release.

A hearing on a writ of habeas corpus in the case of Philip R. Wagner was argued Tuesday in Baltimore before Judge Herman Moser.

Judge Moser did not hand down his decision after hearing the arguments presented by one of the assistant state's attorneys in Baltimore and by a Baltimore attorney for the prisoner.

Wagner was sentenced to three five-year prison terms, all of them to run concurrently, when he pleaded guilty on April 16 in Allegany County Circuit Court to three counts of sodomy. He was sentenced by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

In his writ of habeas corpus, Wagner's attorney argued that Wagner had been deprived of his rights. To this Judge Moser said that from examining the Allegany County Court records in his case he could not rule that he had been refused any rights.

Wagner's attorney pointed out that the defendant agreed to authorities to enter a plea of guilty after the officials told him that he would get off with a two-year term. Instead, Wagner said he received the five-year sentence.

To this Judge Moser commented that many deal for one thing and get another, referring to the defendant's action as a gamble, according to Chief Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis, who attended the hearing.

Skunks Donated To Park Zoo

Constitution Park Superintendent Robert R. Golden brought a couple of "pets" to City Hall yesterday but nobody was inclined to pet them. The "pets" are two baby skunks, donated to the park menagerie by Glenn R. Kauffman, Homewood Addition, this city, but the pair will not be on display until next week. Seems they must be "deodorized" first, although there is no immediate danger, Golden said. The two have been named "Lilac 2nd" and "Petunia." "Lilac" will replace a pet skunk by the same name which died of old age at the park last winter.

Everybody Watches NYC Developments

Wall Street, during the days immediately preceding the annual meeting of stockholders of the New York Central Railroad, had some of the overtones of World Series time. There was a mighty choosing up of sides. Everyone was either a "Young man" or a "White man." There was little or no middle ground.

The public had been drawn into the dispute, too, for who can ignore full page newspaper advertisements?

It is final now that Robert R. Young, who threw all his energies and resources into the battle for control of the New York Central, has won. A count of the proxies of the more than 40,000 stockholders of the railroad, by an impartial board, indicates that Young won by a margin of 1,062,000 votes—or shares—out of more than 6,000,000 shares eligible to be voted.

Young has become chairman of the new board and Alfred E. Perlman has become president of the road, replacing the redoubtable William White, who fought Young all the way to the wire.

Financial circles are seeing in Young's victory all sorts of possibilities. A Texan, he had large financial backing from Texas money in storming the battlements of eastern industry and finance. Thus observers are seeing the beginnings of a shifting of power from Wall Street to the heart of Texas, although in the final showdown Young won without the help of the largest single Texas-controlled block of stock, which had been disputed by the White interests.

Future biographers of Young may find behind his drives and motivations a simple thirst for power. Perhaps so, but he has always claimed that the railroads were the worst managed facet of the whole of American industry. If he thinks he can run a better railroad, he now has the opportunity. The Central is the nation's second largest, worth more than $2,500,000,000, and with financial problems in proportion.

The task is a big one, certainly worthy of the huge abilities Texans are wont to boast about.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Tom Dewey's Candidacy

Between now and the Republican Convention in New York State, reports will be constant concerning Tom Dewey's candidacy for a fourth term as Governor. Tom Dewey is regarded as a competent administrator; he is also recognized as a ruthless politician.

The Republican Party in New York State is split into factions which reflect the prolonged tenure of Dewey and his failure to raise up a successor. If Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. is the Democratic candidate, as he is at this moment likely to be, the Republicans will have to match him with a man of equal attractiveness to New York City voters or of sufficient attractiveness upstate to offset the Roosevelt vote in New York City. At the moment, no Republican name other than Dewey's presents itself for this equation.

Dewey absolutely controls the Republican Party machine in New York State. During his three terms as governor he has managed to eliminate every strong competitive figure. The recent race track scandals assisted him to rid himself of Republican county leaders who were sufficiently strong to challenge his absolutism. Some of these leaders were his close political friends, but he threw them over without even raising his eyebrows. Tom Dewey can always find moralistic grounds for doing what he wants to do.

New York City is the weakest Republican area in the state. It is lacking in leadership in the five counties that comprise it. New York County, which is the heart of the city, only sends one Republican representative to Congress, Frederic R. Coudert, Jr. Jacob Javits goes to Congress as a nominal Republican but he is actually controlled by David Dubinsky's Liberal Party, as his voting record shows. The political organization in this county is split into factions, running from Left Wingers to Conservatives.

A grass-roots Republican movement has been developing in New York. Its strength was exemplified by a meeting held at the National Republican Club under the leadership of Mrs. May Davies, to give William F. Buckley, Jr., an opportunity to deliver an address on his book, "McCarthy and His Enemies." The Women's National Republican Club having rejected him. The overflow on the street and in Bryant Park opposite was larger than had ever been witnessed at a Republican meeting in New York. This was a demonstration of opposition to local Republican leadership and particularly to Thomas E. Dewey.

Should Dewey really decide not to run for governor, the likely candidate would be Senator Irving Ives who has the advantage of inviting less opposition from the labor unions than other Republican aspirants. On the other hand, Ives must take on some of the grassroots opposition to Dewey.

Were the Democrats to nominate either James A. Farley or Judge Charles Froessel, many Republican could vote Democratic as an expression of opposition to Dewey or stay away from the polls as a protest. Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. could present a problem of conscience. It will be difficult for many Republicans who would prefer not to vote for Dewey to take a single step which might insure the election of Roosevelt.

The major antagonism to Tom Dewey goes back to the 1952 Republican convention when he led the fight against Senator Robert A. Taft. The vehemence of Dewey's opposition to Taft has never been acknowledged by Taft supporters as within reasonable political permissibility. Since Senator Taft's death, his followers have come close to developing into a cult, with the words, "Thou Shalt Not Steal" as an emotional stimulant. Taft men blame Tom Dewey for this slogan. They say he could have stopped its use as a convention slogan. As absurd as it may be, they also say that Senator Taft really died because of this slogan.

Those who do not live in this state cannot realize how many groups within the Republican Party who did not support Taft in 1952 now say that they did and make a fetish of it. And, of course, there is the larger McCarthy following, particularly among the Irish Catholics, who are resentful that as a phase of the anti-McCarthy campaign, the religious issue has been raised. They, too, express an opposition to Dewey because the testimony at the hearing shows that what is referred to as the Dewey Clique in the Eisenhower Administration engineered the "Get Joe" effort.

It will be an exciting election if the candidates are Dewey and Roosevelt.

Indo-China—Do French Seek Peace At Any Price?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON, June 23 — In respect of the final outcome, the most extraordinary event of the year in the realm of international affairs is the single-handed negotiation between Premier Mendès-France of the new cabinet in France and Chou En-Lai, the foreign minister of the Red China regime, in their meeting held at Berne, Switzerland, to discuss the fate of Indo-China.

First of all, it's ironical that, despite all the talk about a "colonial war" and the aspirations of the people of Indo-China for independence, the principal personality Mr. Mendès-France sees across the negotiating table is the head of a government formally denounced by the United Nations as an aggressor in Korea and now in a sense conceding it has been a belligerent in the war in Indo-China.

The other governments—Britain and the United States particularly—have drawn apart, watching the game with grave concern and wondering whether Indo-China is to be given over to Communist control because of the ardent desire of a French cabinet to liquidate an unpopular war after eight years of fighting.

For the French Premier has announced that, unless he gets a settlement within 30 days, he will resign. This is tantamount to an announcement by a person who has some property to sell that he has to sell it within that period. Everybody knows how readily the buyer can insist on his price when that kind of a "negotiation" occurs. This is generally known as a "forced sale." It means that France is today consulting her enemy to find out what terms that enemy will grant.

It seems incredible that French public opinion would sanction any such surrender and it is logical to assume that the new French Premier knows that, too. But what he is gambling on evidently is that the Red China Premier will perceive his difficulty and will give a demonstration of fairness which might win friends in the Western world. A clever strategist on the Red China side might see an opportunity to divide the Allies and win admission to the United Nations at the same time if a reasonable plan of settlement is offered.

The French Premier hasn't any trump cards to offer but, at the same time, in the background is the prospect that, if he alienates American opinion, he may lose financial aid for his plan for internal reforms—something to which he gives high priority in his concept of a legislative program. The French Premier told this correspondent about three weeks ago at his home in Paris that he thought France was suffering internationally because she had neglected her domestic situation and that, if the Indo-China problem could be solved, it would enable Frenchmen to turn their energies in the direction of internal reforms long overdue.

But Mr. Mendès-France is by no means an appeaser or a man who will take anything that is offered. He will not, on the other hand, fail to canvass every opportunity for a settlement in Indo-China. If the proposals made to him are utterly unacceptable, he will go back to France with a frank statement of all the factors and doubtless will come to Washington to ask for American help. The Red China Premier knows this, too.

Between now and next Saturday is not a long time in which to feel out the situation but, if the French Premier gets nowhere in his talks with Chou En-Lai, that fact will be important information for President Eisenhower to have when he sits down this coming weekend with Prime Minister Churchill and Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary.

Crossing The Rubicon

Big decisions, therefore, are in the making, and it is conceivable that the Red China government is about to cross the Rubicon. If it doesn't present a plan that can save face for France and insists instead on an extreme point of view, the Communist cause inside France will lose ground and the Moscow government will have reason to be greatly concerned about the course of her Asian ally. If, on the other hand, the Red China government gives Mr. Mendès-France an "out," the settlement of the war in Indo-China will be very popular in France even if it is closer to appeasement than the kind of settlement America got in Korea.

The stopping of a war on almost any terms—or what is sometimes called "peace at any price"—is at this time what many people in the world seem to want. It was that way back in the '30s, but in the end the appeasement brought on World War II. History could repeat itself.

People React Differently To Exposure To Poison Ivy

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

The individual who knows what poison ivy looks like is better prepared to avoid it. When the plant cannot be avoided or is touched inadvertently, it is possible to wash the sticky substance from the skin before eruption appears, provided this is done within an hour or two.

The exposed regions must be scrubbed several times with laundry soap and rinsed well in clean water followed by an alcohol rinse. When soap is not available, a good solvent such as kerosene or gasoline may be used. In the bush, these products may be more readily available than good old soap and water. It is well to remember that soap and solvents are neither antiseptics nor neutralizers of the irritating resin; they merely wash it away. The poison also sticks to clothes so that garments touched by poison ivy must be cleaned or washed properly before they are worn again.

Poison ivy is recognized as a plant with three leaflets on a stalk. The leaves may be small or large, smooth or notched. The fruit is a white, waxy berry resembling mistletoe. The vines grow all over the United States and are particularly troublesome during spring and early summer.

The weed starts as a single plant and may grow like a shrub or creep and climb like a vine. It is found in the woods, on open plains, and in dry and moist areas and flourishes along roadways, fences, or next to a picturesque path. More than one newlywed has transplanted a "pretty vine" to the side of the house or a nearby tree. Not all three leafed vines are poisonous, but when there is doubt, hands off.

The severity and rapidity with which the eruption appears depends upon the amount of exposure and how sensitive the individual is to the plant. Ten persons may be exposed at the same time but only two encounter itching, redness, and blisters; two others may itch, but do not develop dermatitis; the remainder go scot-free. This demonstrates how differently you and I react to exposure. If a barrel of the poison were to spill on the hands of a sensitive individual, an eruption would arise within a few hours; when slight contact is made by the same person, the rash may not appear for 24 to 48 hours.

Remedies vary from products that do no more than ease itching to those that are life saving such as ACTH and cortizone. Preventive vaccines are used chiefly on sensitive individuals who plan to spend several weeks in the country or wherever poison ivy abounds.

TOMORROW: Lung cancer and smoking.

MANY ORIGINS

F. W. writes: Is there any physical basis for a nervous breakdown or is it all in the mind?

Nervous breakdowns are precipitated by a variety of physical and emotional conditions. It is for this reason that all psychiatric patients are given a thorough physical examination to determine whether a disease exists in the brain or any other part of the body.

AGING HEELS

D. W. writes: Is peeling of the heels part of the aging process? I'm past 50 and for the last year they have been rough and scaly. Could it be open healed shoes?

REPLY: I doubt if the shoes are responsible unless there is evidence of friction. After 50 the skin of the legs and feet tends toward dryness. Try applying a lotion or cream every night for relief.

CRACKLING JOINTS

P. L. writes: Whenever I move I have crackling of the neck, wrists, elbows, knees, and ankles. Is this a vitamin deficiency?

REPLY: No, nor is it lack of joint oil. Crackling and grating sounds usually result from roughening of the joints or stretching of the fibrous tissue surrounding them.

BURPING HUSBAND

Mrs. T. writes: My husband is a nervous fellow and belches all the time. Could his nerves be responsible or is it my meals?

REPLY: Either is a possibility. Your husband may be a victim of gall bladder trouble, indigestion, or other intestinal disorder; this is where your cooking enters the picture. Belching is a habit an' also is associated with air swallowing; these are manifestations of nervousness. We have a leaflet on air swallowing that may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

New Vengeance Technique Common In Washington Pressure Politics

By Drew Pearson

Police Headquarters and wanted to know where Mrs. Creagan's daughter, Mrs. Arthur L. Peirson, resided.

Phony Cop

Mrs. Creagan asked why he wanted to know and was told that her daughter had been in a hit-and-run accident, had left the scene of an accident, and the police were looking for her.

Mrs. Creagan is a lady in her eighties, and naturally news that her daughter had hit-and-run agitated her greatly. She gave the alleged policeman her daughter's address in Vineland, N. J., but later that night was still weeping when her daughter happened to call and assured her that she had been in no hit-and-run accident, nor in any accident of any kind.

Next day Surine and Juliana, McCarthy's two gumshoe men, located Hensel's partner, Peirson, in Vineland and admitted that his address was secured from his mother-in-law. However, there was no secret about Hensel's address and they could have obtained it through ordinary business channels.

McCarthy, who also secured a confidential copy of Hensel's income tax returns from his friend Commissioner T. Coleman Andrews, has now admitted that he had no case against Hensel but was following the "kick-em-below-the-belt" technique once taught him by Indian Charlie back in Wisconsin.

Cohn's Techniques

McCarthy is not the only man who has used this technique. His counsel, Roy Cohn, used it on Senator Jackson of Washington when the Senator showed up Cohn's friend, Private Schine, and his juvenile theory of psychological warfare. Cohn had been investigating Jackson's past and came to the Senate hearings with a file ostentatiously labeled "Jackson's record."

McCarthy also went after Time Magazine following critical stories about him. First he accused Time of following the Communist line and wrote every advertiser asking that they cancel their advertising. When this failed to change Time's editorial policy, McCarthy who is chairman of the subcommittee on Post Office appropriations, proceeded to bulldoze Time in connection with its second-class mail privileges.

McCarthy secured from Postmaster General Summerfield figures on the cost of Time's mail subsidy and in a committee hearing proceeded to draw out the fact that Time had received about $17,000,000 through second-class mailing privileges. He claimed this was a profit at the expense of the taxpayers.

What makes the McCarthy revenge technique particularly sinister is the fact that he operates in part with private money, yet he has the power of Senate subpoena and is able to obtain income tax returns. Thousands of dollars have been poured into McCarthy's hands by the Texas oil millionaires and others which, in effect, give him his own SS Elite Corps of private probes, financed by private funds, yet using the power and prestige of the U. S. Government.

Here are some of the others who have incurred McCarthy's ire and felt the whiplash of his revenge technique: The Saturday Evening Post, which he accused of following the instructions of Gus Hall, secretary of the Communist Party... James Wechsler, editor of the New York Post, who was put on the McCarthy grid for two days of cross-examination. Wechsler had been critical of McCarthy and also of McCarthy's friend, Walter Winchell... The Christian Science Monitor was accused of following the line of the Communist Daily Worker... Russel Wiggins, editor of The Washington Post, was berated by McCarthy because he dared defend Wechsler... The St. Louis Post-Dispatch; Cartoonist Herb Block; the Washington Post; The Portland Oregonian; The Madison, Wis., Capital Times; John Steele of the United Press... are just a few of those who have felt the sting of McCarthy's revenge technique.

Griggs A Security Risk?

By Joseph And Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

If you want the best measure of the insanity of our times, consider the air defense story and its relation to the case of Dr. J. Robert Oppenheimer.

The story begins early in 1950, when the National Security Council was anxiously exploring the problems created by the first Soviet atomic test. One of these problems, obviously, was the problem of continental air defense against Soviet atomic attack.

The key to the whole story lies in the almost incredible fact that the U. S. Air Force did not want to face this air defense problem, and fought hard to keep the National Security Council from facing it. The trouble was the peculiar psychology of the big bomber men who have always dominated our air force. Big bomber generals are not merely intolerant of the other services. They are also intensely intolerant of other kinds of air power, and especially of the fighters that are their natural enemies.

In the 1930s, for example, it was official Air Force doctrine that a fighter plane could not successfully attack an almost unarmed B-17, except by dropping a ball and chain contraption into the propeller. Gen. C. L. Chennault was venomously persecuted for believing the opposite. World War II showed that Chennault's persecutors had been talking balderdash. But World War II had hardly ended, when it again became official Air Force doctrine that you could not defend against big bombers.

The doctrine was strengthened by fear. In effect, the big bomber generals were afraid that money spent on air defense would be taken away from money for big bombers. For these not very rational reasons, the U. S. Air Force took its stand against air defense in the National Security Council debate in 1950.

Nonetheless, the majority of the National Security Council held against the Air Force. As one man put it at the time, "You just couldn't forget about the air defense of the United States with the Soviet Union stockpiling atomic bombs." Rather early in 1950, therefore, the N.S.C. issued a firm directive, giving continental air defense over-riding priority in all defense planning and programming.

This, then, was the national policy, which the Air Force was charged with carrying out. To implement the national policy, the Air Force did only one significant thing. It started the Lincoln Project at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, to study air defense possibilities.

Nothing further happened until the summer of 1952 when the Lincoln Project leaders organized a special study group to examine their mass of accumulated data. Dr. Oppenheimer entered the picture at this point, as a consultant of the Lincoln summer study group. Two findings were made in the resulting Lincoln report to the Air Force.

First, the Soviet air-atomic threat to this country was already growing very serious.

Second, certain technological breakthroughs made it possible to build a truly effective air defense, although not a total air defense, and although at heavy cost.

As these reporters can testify from first hand experience, the Lincoln report sent the Air Force High Command into a neurotic tizzy. N.S.C. directive or no N.S.C. directive, men like Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg were still angrily opposed to serious air defense efforts; and they went all out to discredit the Lincoln report.

Hence they raised an outcry about "Magnet thinking," as though it were this country's sacred duty to take all the atomic bombs the Soviet could rain down. They produced a red herring about the impossibility of total air defense, which no one had suggested. And they started another outcry that anyone who wanted a serious air defense was plotting to cripple the Strategic Air Command, which was worse balderdash than the B-17 story.

All this was, of course, nothing less than a flagrant attack on the national policy laid down in the N.S.C. directive of 1950. Yet in the hearings on Dr. Oppenheimer's case, this sorry stuff was solemnly repeated by the former Chief Scientist of the Air Force, Prof. David T. Griggs.

Is Dr. Griggs then a security risk, because he joined other Air Force leaders in opposing national policy? One hardly knows, since Dr. Oppenheimer has been held a risk for mere lack of enthusiasm.

The question about Prof. Griggs by no means exhausts the ironies of the situation, either. So far as these reporters know, no one who advocated a serious air defense wanted to take money away from the Strategic Air Command. Most air defense enthusiasts also wanted a stronger S.A.C. More money has in fact been spent on S.A.C. But the opponents of air defense have won. We are totally vulnerable. And the Soviet air-atomic threat is now very imminent and very grave. This threat has already all but paralyzed British policy. It is beginning to paralyze American policy. Dr. Oppenheimer's rule, that no fighter with a glass jaw was ever much good in the ring, is now beginning to be tragically proven. This no doubt makes the moment appropriate to penalize Dr. Oppenheimer.

Favorites Win Four, Clark Scores "Triple" At Fairgo

Irish Laughter Returns $22.20 In Final Event

Hunters Glory Cops

2nd; Handle $149,196, 5,000 See First Card

Favorites scored in four of the eight races, Willie Clark came through with a riding "triple." Hunters Glory, owned by Enoch P. Price, Frostburg, won the second and J. B. Friedland's Be Flying defeated Weatherman for the major portion of the $1,000 Ladies Day Purse to highlight the opening day's program of the Cumberland Fair Association's 30th annual race meeting yesterday at Fairgo.

It was estimated that 5,000 persons witnessed the eight-race card and the mutuel handle was $149,196. Last year the opening day was on Saturday (June 13) and since Saturdays are always the biggest days there was no justification in comparing the betting figures. However, yesterday's handle failed to equal any of the ten days of 1953 when the low was $163,360 on the second Monday.

Spill Marks Second Race

The inaugural day's card was enlivened by a spill in the second race. It all started when Iva Mae Parrish's Curose stumbled and went down and A. S. Hammond's Lady April fell over the fall mare. Both jockeys, A. Monteiro on Curose and Ronald Teague on Lady April were tossed heavily to the track and they had to be dragged off before the horses reached that point again on their second trip around. Dr. Arthur Jones examined both riders and announced that Monteiro, who hails from Boston, was badly jolted while Teague was reported to be O. K. Monteiro cancelled his mounts for the remainder of the day while Teague rode a pair of winners before the day's program was concluded.

Favorites that rewarded form players were Hunters Glory in the second ($4.80), Lover's Knot in the fourth ($3.80), Cotton Ginny in the fifth ($5.20) and Be Flying in the sixth ($4.20).

Irish Laughter Pays $22.20

The best price of the day was posted in the final event in which Mrs. A. A. Dunbar's Irish Laughter, with Bob Shirley, the Bard, Pa., native aboard, defeated Let Out, the favorite, and returned $22.20 for $2. This race was named in honor of Dr. Frank M. Keller, the ageless veterinarian of the Maryland Racing Commission.

WINNER—Owned by E. P. Price, trained by W. D. Thomas. Hunters Glory staided while on the outside early, waited command on the final turn and steadily held Big Bunny safe at the end. The latter was hard ridden to stay in contention along the inside but could not stay in the late stages. Amaru escaped the fallen horses but failed to display much speed. Eternal Glow had fine speed for a half but tired badly. Tiny Git was through early. Curose moved into close quarters just inside the first turn, stumbled badly and went down. Lady April fell over the fallen horses.

WINNER—Owned by T. Glennon, trained by W. D. Thomas. Gun Maker shook off Cannon after a half and drew out easily after. Cannon drifted off the rail while engaging the winner, could not stay with that one but was best of the others. Shocker outwitted Rain Rose. The latter saved ground but was outdistanced. Moon Mate faltered. The rest showed little.

Sagitta was no match for the top one but outdistanced Big Doc. The latter was hard ridden throughout but faltered at the end. Fanny's Pride badly outrun early closed very well in the final furlong. WINNER—Owned by J. Crawford, trained by W. G. Myers. Cotton Ginny occasionally tried to remain within striking distance made her move from the outside on the final turn and quickly raced into command winning hands. Walking Hills was much used staying off Penny Achance early and had nothing left for the final run. Handful under wraps early, rallied too late in the middle of the stretch. Knot Lator outdistanced La Bu-Te. The latter was hard ridden early racing with the pace and gave way in the drive. La Bu-Te saved ground to no avail.

WINNER—Owned by J. B. Friedland, trained by R. Holland. Be Flying raced into a clear lead without need of pressure, was being eased up on the final turn when she bolted but got running again in the outside fence to hold sway to the end. Weatherman was slow to find best stride but finished well along the inside. Spherical was in the thick of contention throughout and finished willingly. Hill's Flame could not keep up from a swift start but closed well and earned a head beat with Sum Bike. The latter weakened though lasting for a share. Apricot was never a contender.

Eight U. S. Net Players Score At Wimbledon

Rosewall Extended To Beat Herb Flam

By STERLING SLAPPEY

WIMBLEDON, England, June 23 (AP)—Wimbledon sprang to life today and it took a bunch of Americans to bring this premier tennis tournament out of the doldrums.

Eight of them won in the second round of men's singles and four of them lost, but win or lose, they put on the top shows of a hot day in the All-England Lawn Tennis Championships. One Yank loser, Andy Paton of Ann Arbor, Mich., almost pulled off the upset of the week when he carried Denmark's 10th seeded Kurt Nielsen, to five sets before bowing to last year's finalist 6-3, 12-10, 4-6, 4-6, 6-4.

All five seeded Americans—No. 1 Tony Trabert, No. 4 Vic Seixas, No. 6 Art Larsen, No. 7 Budge Patty and No. 12 Gardner Mulloy—won, but they had to work far harder than most of them expected.

Rosewall Whips Flam
The highest regarded loser was Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Cal., who put up a whale of a fight. The victor was Ken Rosewall, Australia's 19-year-old who is seeded third. The score was 6-2, 8-6, 6-4 over the hard working American sailor who came to England on a 30-day furlough from San Francisco.

The scrap and the Patty-Hugh Stewart match were the headliners of the day. Patty, the 1950 champion, beat Stewart, of Los Angeles, 10-8, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

The other top players fared in this fashion: Trabert, of Cincinnati, had more than he expected so early in the tournament, but won over O. G. Williams of South Africa, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5. Second seeded Lew Hoad of Australia had the easiest passage of the day, defeating the Pole, Ignacy Tlozysinski, 6-0, 6-2, 6-1.

Seixas Is Victor
Seixas, defending champion from Philadelphia, chopped and cut his way to a 6-3, 6-4, 6-1, victory over Italy's Nicola Pietrangeli. Fifth-seeded Mervyn Rose of Australia defeated a fellow countryman, Neal Fraser, 8-6, 6-3, 6-1. Larsen of San Leandro, Calif., defeated the young Indian, Narendra Nath, 7-5, 6-3, 6-3.

Eleventh ranked Jaroslav Drobny, Egypt, defeated Torben Ulrich, Denmark, 6-2, 6-0, 6-4, and Mulloy, of Coral Gables, Fla., won from the Briton, B. E. Crouch, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1.

Keeping Up With Hollywood by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, June 23—(INS)—I don't know whether Dore Schary saw Robert Ryan in "About Mrs. Leslie" or not before he telephoned Bob in New York—but if the boss of MGM did see Bob, I can understand his enthusiasm. Ryan's just great with Shirley Booth.

But the picture Schary sealed with Bob is the co-starring lead with Spencer Tracy in "Bad Day At Black Rock." Even though it's a meanie role, Ryan said he'd finish up his personal appearance stint in time to start the picture with Spence.

For beauty from neckline to chin, follow today's grooming suggestions from John Robert Powers.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The area from neckline to chin is small, but many questions of beauty center in this area: What to do about a receding chin? How to avoid wrinkles? How to make the short neck appear longer?

The receding chin is no problem once you become expert with this makeup technique: Apply your regular foundation to the entire face and neck, then apply a second foundation—one shade lighter but in the same color range—in a broad, flat line along the contour of your jawbone. Now blend in the lighter foundation until no line or separation is apparent. After you have powdered, no one will detect the ruse, yet your chin will be more prominent.

To disguise a pointed chin, apply makeup in the same manner as above, but instead of using a second foundation that is lighter than your regular shade, use one that is two shades darker.

About Wrinkles

Lines or creases in the throat are usually the result of two things: dryness and poor posture. After you remember to stand tall and hold your head up? Are you keeping the skin lubricated?

Your skin thrives on four steps in daily care: diet, cleanliness, protection, stimulation. Your diet must be a healthful one. Your face must be thoroughly cleaned (always work upward, starting from the base of the throat). It must be protected with the proper type of powder base, worn every day, and with oil at night for softening effect. For stimulation, relax with feet higher than head; this brings the blood to the throat and face, nourishing the skin.

Exercise the neck muscles by leaning the head back and rotating it first one way, then the other. Another good exercise for these muscles, and to prevent a double chin, is this: Turn the head to the right, raise the nose a good two inches in the air and chew. Relax. Now turn your head to the left, again raise the nose in the air and chew. Relax.

Adding Length

With your beautifying program in practice, make your neck look even lovelier with the right neckline. If your face is round, your neck short, avoid the high-button collar that cuts down the neck area. Choose a V neckline or a low oval (even your suit jacket should have a low closing point to lengthen the front line). Keep the neckline uncluttered—no chunky necklaces or large collars. Stick to earrings, or wear a clip at the base of a low neckline.

These glamorous devices—and a well-poised head—give the neck a chance to achieve fuller height. Reverse procedures will shorten a long neck just as easily.

YOUR BEAUTY DIET

No matter what your weight problem—whether you want to gain, lose or remain the same—YOUR BEAUTY DIET will provide you with a safe and sane pattern of laboratory-tested menus that can be followed by the entire family according to each individual's needs. YOUR BEAUTY DIET is a way of eating, not starving, and the tasteful, appetizing meals it contains require no extra planning or preparation. For the booklet, write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper and enclose 10c in coin to help cover cost; your stamped self-addressed envelope.

15-Year-Old Boy Crowned Champ Chicken Cooker

GEORGETOWN, Del., June 23 (AP)—A 15-year-old high school boy from West Trenton, N. J., won the junior cooking contest of the 7th annual Delmarva Chicken Festival here yesterday.

In an unprecedented victory for a male in this festival, young Charles Voorhees beat out 51 other contestants including one of his three sisters and five other boys.

His mouth-watering recipe, Roto-cue Chicken, won the judges' acclaim and won him $150 toward a college education and a new stove. Charles, who will be a junior in September at Ewing High School in Trenton, is one of eight children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Voorhees.

Cooking is a hobby with Charlie who has been a 4-H Club member for four years. His father is an electrical mechanic and Charlie lives with his four brothers and three sisters just outside West Trenton. He wants to be a farmer.

The judges sampled the competing chicken dishes without knowing the cooks and when they picked the Roto-cue Chicken, aides scrambled off to find the junior cooking queen and present her with a corsage.

Instead of a cooking queen, they found a king and Gov. McKeldin of Maryland crowned him champion Delmarva chicken cooker of 1954.

U. Of Md. Specialists To Aid British Guinea

WASHINGTON, June 23 (AP)—A $900,000 contract to provide technical aid to British Guinea during the next three years was signed by the University of Maryland yesterday.

The Foreign Operations Administration, which with the contract was signed, said specialists from the university will aid British Guinea in a comprehensive economic and social development plan on which that country and Great Britain will spend 25 million dollars in the next two years. Additional funds are to be provided later.

"British Guinea's development program," the FOA announcement said, "is designed to correct conditions of unemployment, poverty, illiteracy and poor housing and to establish the basis for a sound, progressing economy."

WHO WASTES HONORS?

PLAYING your honors at the right times can decide the fate of many a contract. If you use them to the best advantage, you may develop tricks for your other cards later on. If you play them in the wrong spots, you may merely waste them, while developing tricks for the other side. In brief, the outcome may depend on the question of which pair wastes its honors and which does not.

♠ A Q 9 6	♠ K 4 3
♥ K 10	♥ Q J 3
♦ 10 7 6 5	♦ K J
♣ 9 6 4	♣ K 8 7 5 3

(Dealer: East. North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	Pass	1 ♠
Pass	1 NT	Pass	2 NT
Pass	3 NT

Two tricks difference in the result of this duplicate deal came at tables where the bidding was the same, but the defenders varied in the use of their secondary honors. In each case West led the diamond 4 to the K, the J came back to the Q and A and the 9 was led to the 10 to establish West's 8. The fourth trick was the same too, the club 4 being led for a winning finesse of the Q. When the spade 8 was led to the fifth trick, the first advantage developed.

One West, instead of splitting his honors as he should, played the deuce, enabling South to use the dummy's 6 and force out the K with his lowly 8. Now it was East's turn to make a costly error. He returned the heart Q. The K won that, and the 10, covered by the J and A, set up South's 9 for later use. When West then played his spade 7 on the 5, the 9 won a marked finesse, followed by the A and Q, next a finesse of the club J, the club A and the heart 9 to give South his contract plus an extra trick. At the other table the defenders made no such slips. When the spade 8 was led to the fifth trick, West inserted the 10, obliging South to sacrifice his Q in order to force the K. That East then could safely return a spade, the 4, which brought the J and A. When the 9 was scored, it established the 7 for West instead of a fourth spade trick for South. The latter was now as good as liced. When he led the club 9, East put on the K to force the A. The J was scored, but that established East's 8. All that South could score now were the heart K and A, as he had to give up the last two tricks to the heart Q and club 8 to be down one.

Tomorrow's Problem

♠ 8 4	♠ J 5 2
♥ K J 10 8	♥ 7
♦ A Q 3	♦ 8 5 4
♣ A J 9 3	♣ 8 6 5 2

(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

How might carelessness by West in play of the spades enable North to make an unwarranted 3-No Trumps on this deal?

In Memoriam

LEWIS—In loving memory of our beloved mother, Katherine (Kate) A. Lewis, who passed away three years ago, June 24th, 1951.
A token of love and remembrance of her memory to us is a treasure.
Her loss is a life time regret.
Though days rush by, and busy years speed quickly on their way,
The grief we hold within our hearts
Lives on from day to day.
Her Loving Children.

Late Rally Sends Lagging Market To High For Year

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, June 23 (AP)—A lag-gard Stock Market was saved today by a late rally that pushed prices up vigorously.

The advance boosted the Associated Press average of 60 stocks up 40 cents to another in its string of new high marks at $126.40.

Not all areas of the market were in on the advance and many major divisions contributed only partially. Included among those with a hand in the rally were the steels, motors, merchandising issues, aircrafts, radio-televions, electrical equipments, tobaccos, railroads, and a few others.

The tobaccos were hit very hard yesterday and showed losses from 1 to more than 3 points after the American Cancer Society reported on the alliance between smoking and cancer and heart disease. Today they opened steady and advanced to close with some gains running to between 1 and 2 points.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks with its gain of 40 cents went to $126.40, a new high for the year and the best level since Oct. 23, 1929.

The industrial component of the average was up 60 cents at a new high mark of $171.70, railroads gained 60 cents, while the utilities lost 10 cents.

Again the volume crossed the two million mark at 2,090,000 shares as compared with 2,100,000 shares traded yesterday.

Chicago Board Of Trade

CHICAGO, June 23 (AP)—Most grains sold with narrow price limits on the Board of Trade today although there were times when July soybeans spurted several cents.

At the business meeting, officers for the ensuing term were elected as follows: Miss Martha Hamright, president; Miss Lydia Reighner, vice-president; Miss Mary Lue Homan, secretary, and Miss Nancy Shank, treasurer.

Adult present included Rev. Marvin Cale, Mrs. Sarah Homan and Mrs. Twila Sions, the new adult councilors.

5,000 Voters May Have To Re-Register

Failure To Vote Endangers Status

City voters who failed to cast ballots in the primary and general elections held earlier this month are faced with the possibility they may have their names stricken off the city's registration books before the next regular election in 1958.

Cumberland's newly-elected city fathers, who will take office July 6, will be serving four-year terms for the first time in the city's history. Recently enacted legislation changed the tenure of office for the mayor and four councilmen from two to four years.

Thus, explains City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery, who is in charge of Cumberland's perpetual registration, a period of six years will have elapsed from the 1952 primary and general elections until the 1958 elections for the more than 5,000 registered city voters who did not ballot in this year's campaign.

Under the perpetual registration system as provided in the continuous registration law for the city the names of registered voters in Cumberland are cancelled from the books through failure to vote for five calendar years.

Must Vote Continuously
Previously, voters could miss an election for one reason or another without jeopardizing their status, with elections held every two years. Now the elections are scheduled every four years and voters must vote continuously or be stricken from the records, necessitating their re-registering in order to be eligible for future city elections.

Of the 15,071 registered voters in Cumberland only 7,766 cast ballots in the primary election June 1. In the general election two weeks later, 9,666 ballots were marked. Thus, Ullery noted, there were 7,305 persons who did not vote in the primary and 5,405 who did not ballot in the general election.

A ballot in either the primary or general election saves the voter's eligibility but there is no way of telling immediately how many of the voters missed both elections, Ullery said.

A perpetual check is made of the registration books, Ullery stated, and as the five-year period elapses the voter is notified by the city that his or her name is being stricken from the records if no ballot has been cast in that time.

May Call Special Election
If, however, a special election is called anytime in the four-year span between general elections the voter may retain his eligibility by casting a ballot in the special event.

Special elections can be called by a petition of 10 per cent of the voters or by resolution by the Mayor and City Council for various reasons, such as changes in the city charter, the replacement of a councilman or mayor who resigns, dies, or is removed from office with more than a year of his term of office remaining to be served.

McCoole Road Construction Gets Under Way

Series Of Projects To Follow Shortly

The George F. Hazelwood Company yesterday began construction work on the Westernport-McCoole Road, State Route 135, and a series of other road improvements in that section will follow, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

The project which got under way yesterday will cost in the neighborhood of $825,000, and consists of resurfacing and widening the road, and in some areas relocating it.

To Be Finished In '55

The area of the road on which the improvements will be made covers a 4.6 mile stretch, and it is expected that this job will be completed by the middle of 1955.

In the very near future, work will begin on the widening of four culvert-type bridges on U. S. Route 220 in the Rawlings section. This work will be done by the J. Melvin Roberts firm of Cockeysville, and will cost $37,904.

Chaires said that about eight or nine other bridges of the culvert type will be eliminated, and bids will be advertised on these structures later in the year.

The railings of these type bridges usually are located too close to the traffic lanes and when removed will provide a wider area, thus removing a traffic hazard.

More Building Planned

The SRC also expects to advertise for bids on the rebuilding of the section one and one-half miles south of Rawlings to the point of the newly-relocated Potomac River Bridge, in the vicinity of McCoole.

Included in this project will be the widening of a treacherous curve in the area of the Hi-Rock Drive-in Theatre.

Chaires pointed out that the completion of this work will provide a modern highway from Cresaptown to McCoole.

Fire Department To Use New Type Detector System

Units Will Be Placed Inside County Home

A new detector system is being installed this week at the County Home by Cumberland Fire Department, Chief Virgil A. Parker said.

The system, similar to the fire sprinkler unit programs utilized by many hotels, apartment buildings and warehouses, will be tested by the Cumberland firemen and if found satisfactory will also be placed in the County Infirmary and at Sylvan Retreat, Chief Parker added.

The principle of the detector alarm is the same as that of a fire sprinkler system. When the sprinkler alarm becomes heated to a set degree the center melts, setting off an alarm to the fire station while turning on water sprinklers to spray the flames until firemen arrive.

The new detector units, called "Sprink-La-Stat," are in reality thermostats connected to the city's central alarm circuit. They are set at 160 degrees and will set off an alarm if heated to within one degree over or under the 160 setting. There is no water sprinkler connected with the new thermostats.

When overheated the thermostat's center melts, releasing a spring which in turn releases a plunger which holds closed the alarm circuit. The moment the plunger is released it results in an open circuit, sending in the alarm.

The new detectors are being set in the County Home, in the kitchen, furnace room and closets. They can be placed under stairways, in coal bins, attics and other concealed or confined places where it is difficult to detect or reach a fire.

Chief Parker said the new detectors are much less expensive than the sprinkler system and will be utilized in all important buildings not now protected by sprinkler systems, should they prove to be adequate.

Hagerstown Soldier Given National Guard Assignment

By CHARLES H. KELLY
News Staff Writer

A native of Hagerstown, Sfc. Donald F. Shantz, 26, is taking over duties as sergeant-advisor of the First Battalion, 115th Infantry Regiment of the Maryland National Guard here.

He is replacing M/Sgt. Arestides L. Parousis, of Bowling Green, who is being sent overseas to an assignment in Greece.

Sgt. Shantz, a veteran of World War II, recently completed about seven years of service at various stations in Alaska.

He worked a number of years as sergeant-advisor while there, and was attached with one of the most unusual units of the National Guard of the United States. They were two scouting battalions comprised almost entirely of Eskimos.

Sgt. Shantz, who attended school in Hagerstown, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Shantz. He was inducted into Army in 1944, and following basic training at Camp Gordon, Ga., was stationed at different places in the States and finally was assigned to the Third Infantry Division.

After being discharged he re-enlisted and was sent to Alaska. While serving there he met and married Miss Christine Hatley. The couple has two children, Michael, about three and Janet, 1½ years old.

Sgt. Shantz holds a student license and has flown small aircraft. He expects to get his pilot's license soon.

He remarked that flying is more or less a requisite in Alaska since transportation is at a premium with "one boat a year" going to certain places.

He said dog teams are available but he could never seem to handle them, and so took up flying. The temperatures of Alaska can soar to 90 degrees in the summer, and dip as low as 50 below in the winter months. However, the country is not all "ice and snow" as visualized by most people.

Sgt. Shantz remarked that his wife is not too satisfied with life in the States and so the family hopes to get back to Alaska when his 18 months tour of duty in the States is completed. He said he intends to make Alaska his home and expects to work as a civilian with the National Guard.

His duties while in Cumberland will be advising the National Guard Unit on various things, including Army policies and regulations. He is a member of the American Legion and of the Moose Club of Hagerstown.

Contractor Ready To Begin West Side Wall Soon

Heavy Flood Work Equipment Arrives

Arrival of much of the needed heavy equipment and steel sheeting will enable the Wright Contracting Company, Inc., of Columbus, Ga., to begin work within a day or two on the flood wall along the Potomac River on the West Side.

Rex E. Dexter, resident engineer for the Cumberland and Ridgeley flood project, said the contractor plans to excavate and place rip rap along the river bank to enable him to use his heavy equipment for the building of the retaining wall.

The 800-foot wall, which will be between 16 and 18 feet above the present ground level along the Potomac River from the rear of the Moose Home on Beall Street to the rear of the Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Company warehouse at Long Avenue and Water Street, is the next phase of the flood project.

Relocate Power Poles

The erection of the wall necessitates the removal of at least two residences on Water Street and also the relocation of two power line poles.

A huge steel tower supporting six high tension wires from the Potomac Edison's power plant on Kelly Boulevard is located near the river bank next to the C&A warehouse. Arrangements have been made with the PE for the contractor to work around the tower at the present time, although in the future the tower may have to be relocated also, Dexter said.

The high tension wires are approximately 30 feet above the level of the ground and although much of the contractor's heavy equipment could come into contact with the wires, Dexter said the proper precautions will be taken to avoid accident or injury while working around the wires.

Meanwhile, the Potomac Edison Company already has begun preparations to relocate the smaller power poles, moving them from Water Street to Avirett Avenue. PE equipment has been working for several days digging new post holes on the avenue and erecting new power poles.

Has Rented Office Space

The contracting company has rented office space in the old Williams Grocery store located at the corner of Long Avenue and Avirett Avenue. Workers are constructing separate offices for the contractor and for the resident engineer's inspection staff.

A batching plant which will be used to mix ingredients for concrete will be erected at the intersection of Water Street and Kelly Boulevard, Dexter said. The plant is not expected to arrive here until sometime in July.

Steel sheeting will be driven into the river bed at the foot of the wall to prevent water from getting underneath the base of the wall, Dexter said. The wall will be wider at the base than at the top, will have spread footing width with cantilever type vertical wall. It will be built in 20-foot sections.

Meanwhile, large trees and brush which lined the banks of the river already have been cut down and stumps are being removed to prepare for the start of the construction work.

The Weather

Yesterday proved to be what might be described by many as an ideal summer day. The sun was out, and the high official temperature, as recorded at the Constitution Park weather station, was 81 degrees. Robert Golden, official weather observer and park superintendent, reported that attendance at the park pool was very good. Yesterday's low reading was 67, and at 6 p. m. the humidity was 54 per cent. Fairgo racing fans should enjoy another good day, as far as the weather is concerned, as the forecast calls for continued sunny skies.
